Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-10, drawn to a process, classified in class 65, subclass 30.1.
- II. Claims 11-30, drawn to product, classified in class 428, subclass 195.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions Group I and Group II are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product as claimed can be made by a materially different process such as polishing a glass with sponge formed from cellulose and cerium oxide particles.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

During a telephone conversation with Mr. Leonard Holtz on Feb. 12, 2003 a provisional election was made with oral traverse to prosecute the invention of Group I, claims 1-10. Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action. Claims 11-30 stand withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-2, 6 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Marukawa et al (6,287,175) taken with Hall (6,509,412).

Marukawa et al disclose the process of manufacturing glass substrates for magnetic disks comprising polishing at least one surface of the substrate and subjecting the polished surface to scrubbing with a sponge (See Fig. 1 (a) and Col. 4, line 23 through Col. 5, line 14). Marukawa et al disclose that the sponge has an underlayer or backing (Col. 2, lines 52-55). The sponge is described as having a Shore hardness of 32 degrees (See Col. 4, lines 66-67). The Hall reference is cited as disclosing that Asker hardness values convert to approximately twice the numerical value on the Shore hardness Scale (See Col. 8, lines 54-55 where Shore of 24 is the same as Asker of 52). Therefore the sponge of Marukawa having a Shore hardness of about 20-50 (Col. 3, line 45), e.g. 32 (Col. 4, line 67) meets the instant Asker value of not less than 40. It would appear that because the reference also uses a potassium hydroxide solution for the treatment that the ph value of claim 6 would be inherent in the process of Marukawa et al (Compare Col. 4, lines 50-52 with the top of page 14 of the instant specification). With regard to claim 8, Marukawa et al disclose an initial mechanical polishing step

(Col. 4, line 25 ff) and this step qualifies as a texturing according to the instant specification in the paragraph bridging pages 9-10. Additionally the instant specification indicates that mechanical polishing methods are "known" (See page 9, lines 28-29).

Claims 9-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Marukawa et al (6,287,175) taken with Hall (6,509,412) as applied to claims 1-2, 6 and 8 above, and further in view of the Machine Translation of JP 2000-149249.

JP 2000-149249 discloses a related process of preparing glass substrates for use as magnetic disks where the substrates are subjected to a chemical strengthening step (See par [003]). It would have been obvious to use this step with Marukawa et al in order to the strengthen the glass substrates of the primary reference.

Claims 3-5 and 7 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. The cited references do not show or reasonably suggest the features of these claims.
